DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 30-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over USPN 5,703,709 to Mori et al or USPN 5,932,119 to Kaplan et al. Both Mori et al and Kaplan et al describe laser marking systems with selectable beam intensity, sensing means, and program control. The intended use with a particular workpiece, such as a particular meat, does not impart patentability to the apparatus claims. The intended use with laser application of particular mark features such as visual or touch features or with laser application of particular shape or information features does not impart patentability to the apparatus claims. It would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art that both the Mori et al device and the Kaplan et al device could have been used to mark a meat product.

Claims 30-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over USPN 5,120,928 to Piliero or USPN 5,897,797 to Drouillard et al. Both Piliero and Drouillard et al describe laser marking. Piliero describes marking cheese or meat. Drouillard et al describe marking produce, and patent citation 4,839,181 describes use of a laser with a meat product. The intended use with a particular workpiece, such as a particular meat, does not impart patentability to the apparatus claims. The intended use with laser application of particular mark features such as visual or touch features or with laser application of particular shape or information features does not impart patentability to the apparatus claims. It would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art that both the Piliero and Drouillard et al device could have been used to mark a meat product to provide visual and touch information.

Claims 30-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over NL9401841A or DE19646813A1. NL9401841A describes marking meat with a laser marking system which provides adjustable intensity. DE19646813A1 describes CO2 laser marking of meat. The instant sensor and logic controller means can be provided by a user and would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art in order to provide marks with suitable process speed. The intended use with a particular workpiece, such as a particular meat, does not impart patentability to the apparatus claims. The intended use with laser application of particular mark features such as visual or touch features or with laser application of particular shape or information features does not impart patentability to the apparatus claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the new claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

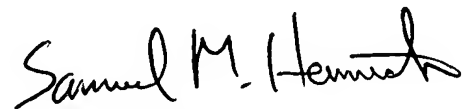

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
